- ACHA SPRING MEETING: The American Catholic Historical Association invites paper and panel proposals for its annual Spring Meeting (April 17 and 18, 2020) at The University of Scranton. Individual papers will be accepted for review although the submission of complete (or nearly complete) panels/round tables greatly facilitate the process. Presenters must register for the spring meeting and are strongly encouraged to join the ACHA. Graduate students and younger scholars are especially encouraged to consider presenting papers. For each panel proposal, please send the title of the panel, the names and titles of chairs/discussants and presenters, and the titles of the papers. For each paper proposal please send a 200-word prospectus (no prospectus is necessary for the panel as a whole) and a one-page CV (per presenter) by January 10, 2020 to:
Professor Robert Shaffern of The University of Scranton History Department at robert.shaffern@scranton.edu.
- ACHA ANNUAL MEETING 2021: Stay tuned for information about a Call for Papers from the 2021 Program Chair, Anthony Smith (asmith1@udayton.edu), for the 101st ACHA Annual Meeting at the 135th AHA Annual Meeting in Seattle, Washington from January 7 - 10, 2021. The deadline for submitting a proposal for an ACHA-AHA panel is February 15, 2020 and ACHA members are encouraged to propose an AHA panel, which covers the cost of AV equipment. The deadline for submitting a proposal for an ACHA panel is March 16, 2020. ACHA members may also consider a co-sponsored panel with the American Society for Church History (ASCH) or another AHA Affiliated Society, a list of which can be found online.
- Promoting Catholic Religious Archives: During the ACHA Convention, Malachy McCarthy of the Claretian Archives, Carol Coburn of Avila University, Michael Burns of Boston College, and Ellen Pierce, an Archive Consultant, will be available to share with you the progress of a national initiative to preserve and strengthen Catholic religious archives. Scholars play an important role in this program as they recognize the intrinsic values of these collections. If you would like to become involved in participating in the effort, please sign an information sheet located at the ACHA Information Table. On Saturday, from 3:30 to 5:00 p.m. the panel, WRITING ABOUT WOMEN RELIGIOUS: ARCHIVES, CHALLENGES, OPPORTUNITIES will discuss the implications and availability in using these rich resources.
